1.1. Cigar brandies

only 100% distillate (see Category 1) wood aged

Requirements for cigar distillates – distillates that go well with cigars:

100% distillate, high density, intense aroma, a sweet essence, matured in a wooden barrel (recommended), higher alcoholic contents (c. 50% vol), good overall balance of the product and a perfect marriage with cigars.

Cigar distillates

Cigar distillates have to be a perfect accompaniment to smoking - the range of cigars extends from Dominican (light) to Cuban (heavy). The distillates must be stored in wooden barrels and exhibit particular density, length and sweetness. The criteria of how well the products harmonise in this group is much more strictly assessed than in other groups. As alcohol also has an influence, an upper limit of 53% vol. has been set. Spirits that have a higher alcohol content generally go well with cigars - higher proof ones go better with heavy cigars, while spirits with a lower 40% tend to go better with lighter cigars.

1.2. Coffee brandies

only 100% distillate (see Category 1) wood aged

Requirements for coffee distillates:

100% distillate, high density, intense aroma, a high degree of sweetness from the extract or wood, good overall balance of the product and a perfect marriage with coffee.

Coffee distillates

Coffee distillates should generally blend well with coffee. These products distinguish themselves with particular density, length and sweetness. They can be stored in wooden barrels, but can also be distilled using stone fruits, grapes or wild fruits. The criteria of how well the products harmonise in the "Coffee distillates" category is much more strictly assessed than with spirits in other groups.

KAV	Coffee Distillate - Grapes and wine	KAFGG	OBB
KAE	Coffee Distillate - Special types	KAFGG	OBB
KAB	Coffee Distillate - Wood Aged	KAFGG	OBB

The groups: pomaceous fruit (KERB), stone fruit (STEB), soft fruit (BERB), grapes and wine (VINB), wild fruit (WILB), grain (GETB), coffee distillates (KAFG), cigar distillates (ZIGG), wood aged 100% distillates (HOLG), special types (SONB).

The listed varieties are a selection only - should the variety you would like to enter not be among them, please list them in your application form as "diverse / other varieties" and list the group instead of an abbreviation.

Grappe or whiskeys - as long as they fit the rules for category 1 - may also be entered in the category OBB. In this case, you would be listed among the marcs or korns.

Requirements for:

Title "Distillery of the Year": at least 10 distilleries within the category
 Distillery qualification: submission of at least 5 products within three groups
 Award: at least 10 products within one group
 Title "Spirits of the Year": at least 5 products for one variety or group

2. Fruit spirits/brandies - blends from fruit, wine, wild fruits, grain (with external alcohols and/or sugar added, as well as aromatic additives)

In the categories 1 OBB and 2 OBS, we distinguish or group by exact variety (e.g. apple – Jonathan) within the species (apple) and the family (pome), so please enter the exact variety with its species and family on the application.

Concerning whiskies, the tasting is performed according to regions (e.g. Highlands, Lowlands, Islay, Islands, Speyside) or according to the variety, such as with apples (Gloster, Reinette, Jonathan ...). After that, the individual group ratings are summarized and the results will be published for whiskies or apples in their entirety.

The organizer reserves the right to reclassify the spirits if necessary, when the registration of a submitting party is not clear, allowing arbitrary classification.

Moreover, groups can be complemented or deleted if there are too few samples submitted - in this case, the category or group is assigned to fruit spirits, for example, or "similar" products (consequently, these samples unfortunately cannot receive an award, but naturally medals). Classification also takes place, provided that the preconditions according to the rules are fulfilled.

The award for the best group or best category is only presented by the organizer provided that there is no division of a product into groups.

In order to make it possible for the organizer to present an award for a certain category, at least 10 products must have been submitted in that same category.

The results will not reflect the total number of submitted samples, since only the "winners of medals" are published.

There will be no awards for individual varieties, just medals.
